AFRICA AND MIDDLE EAST

The roots of Mazars reach back to France. Traditionally, the French economy is closely linked to the economy of the African continent and the Middle East. Therefore, Mazars has always been attaching great importance to both regions - now for many years with a view to the whole world.

In Africa, Mazars has got offices in Algeria, Angola, Benin, Botswana, Cameroon, Congo, Djibouti, Ethiopia, Ghana, the Ivory Coast, Kenya, Libya, Madagascar, Malawi, Mauritius, Morocco, Mozambique, Namibia, Nigeria, Ruanda, Senegal, South Africa, Tanzania, Tunisia, Uganda and Zimbabwe. In the Middle East, there are offices in Egypt, Bahrain, Israel, Kuwait, Lebanon, Oman, Palestine, Qatar, Saudi Arabia as well as the United Arab Emirates.

All offices are laid out to assist companies from all over the world with their expansion to Africa and the Middle East and to provide ongoing support to them thereafter.

A special hub bounds Germany to South Africa: Germany is South Africa's second strongest trading partner behind China. The import volume from Germany is fundamental, whilst a further rise is to be expected for the following years. Besides, there is also a large German Business Community in South Africa: German companies currently maintain around 400 subsidiaries here, with approx. 70,000 local employees in total.

On the basis of this important connection between the German and South African economy, Mazars Germany and Mazars South Africa jointly run the South Africa Services that put special focus on the needs of German companies in South Africa.

NORTH AMERICA

The North American economic area is of central importance: Companies from all over the world are invested here and generate sustainable profits. Mazars maintains numerous offices in North America, especially in the USA, Canada and the Bermudas.

Thereby, Mazars has always been a professional and reliable advisor with international expansions. The focus is on giving all support in relation to company set-ups, company purchases and joint ventures as well as providing permanent guidance in the country of expansion.

The USA is of superior relevance for the German economy. For this reason, Mazars Germany and Mazars USA jointly run the USA Services. The service portfolio of the USA Services is specifically adjusted to the needs of German companies in the USA and US-American companies in Germany.

In July 2019 Mazars founded the Mazars North America Alliance. This is an alliance between Mazars and five leading companies in the United States and Canada - BKD, Dixon Hughes Goodman, Moss Adams, Plante Moran

(US company) and MNP (Canadian company). Geographically, these five alliance companies will complement Mazars USA and Mazars Canada and form Mazars' future presence in North America. Mazars now has a total of 40,000 employees serving clients around the world: 24,000 employees in 89 countries in Mazars' unique integrated partnership and 16,000 employees in the U.S. and Canada who are members of the Mazars North America Alliance.

Besides the USA Services, Mazars also provides the US Tax Desk. The US Tax Desk is formed by tax advisors with USAfocus from Germany, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Ireland and Luxembourg. In the center are US-American companies that are either planning an investment into the European capital and export market, or that are already invested in here. These companies will be professionally and reliably guided through the European fiscal landscape, primarily on matters relating to tax optimization of subsidiary set-ups and company purchases in Europe, as well as in the context of import and export.

The Central and South American economic area plays an important role: Companies from all over the world, especially from Germany, are invested in here and generate sustainable profits.

Mazars maintains numerous offices in Argentina, Brazil, on the Cayman Islands, in Chile, on the Dutch West Indies, in Ecuador, Colombia, Mexico, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela. All offices work closely together with our, from Germany coordinated, Central & South American Services.

An important factor that should not be underestimated for entrepreneurial success abroad is the professional, reliable support with legal, tax and audit issues and tasks, at home and abroad and not least at the interface between countries.

URBANITY BY MAZARS

We are delighted to introduce "Urbanity by Mazars", a project that highlights the fascinating intricacy and interconnections of the urban world. This project features artworks representing the unique and distinctive patterns of cities where Mazars is present, across all continents. These paintings will not only be displayed in our offices – they will be the basis for various local and international projects sponsored by Mazars, highlighting our interest and our respect for the communities that make up our environment.

The city is, historically and politically, the place where individuals come together, letting go, in part, of their personal interests so as to build a common future; by doing so, they work towards an overarching goal, contributing to something bigger than the sum of their own journeys. As defined by 17th century British philosopher Thomas Hobbes, the social contract involves "more than consent, or concord; it is a real unity (...) made by covenant of every man with every man".

More than a geographical location, or an accumulation of homes giving rise to a high concentration of people, the city represents a move towards a higher degree of civilisation. Not surprisingly, the term urbanity, derived from the latin urbs, for city, means not only what is linked to city life, but also a quality that is polished in manner, courteous, or sophisticated.

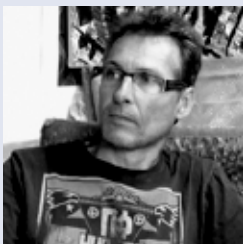

With 66 % of the population projected to live in urban areas by 2050, cities continue to absorb a major part of humanity's vigour and creativity. Although they are confronted with major challenges, notably from an environmental and social points of view, they also represent the place where business, the arts, political activism, social entrepreneurship and infinite networks of individuals become intertwined, forming vibrant human fabrics.

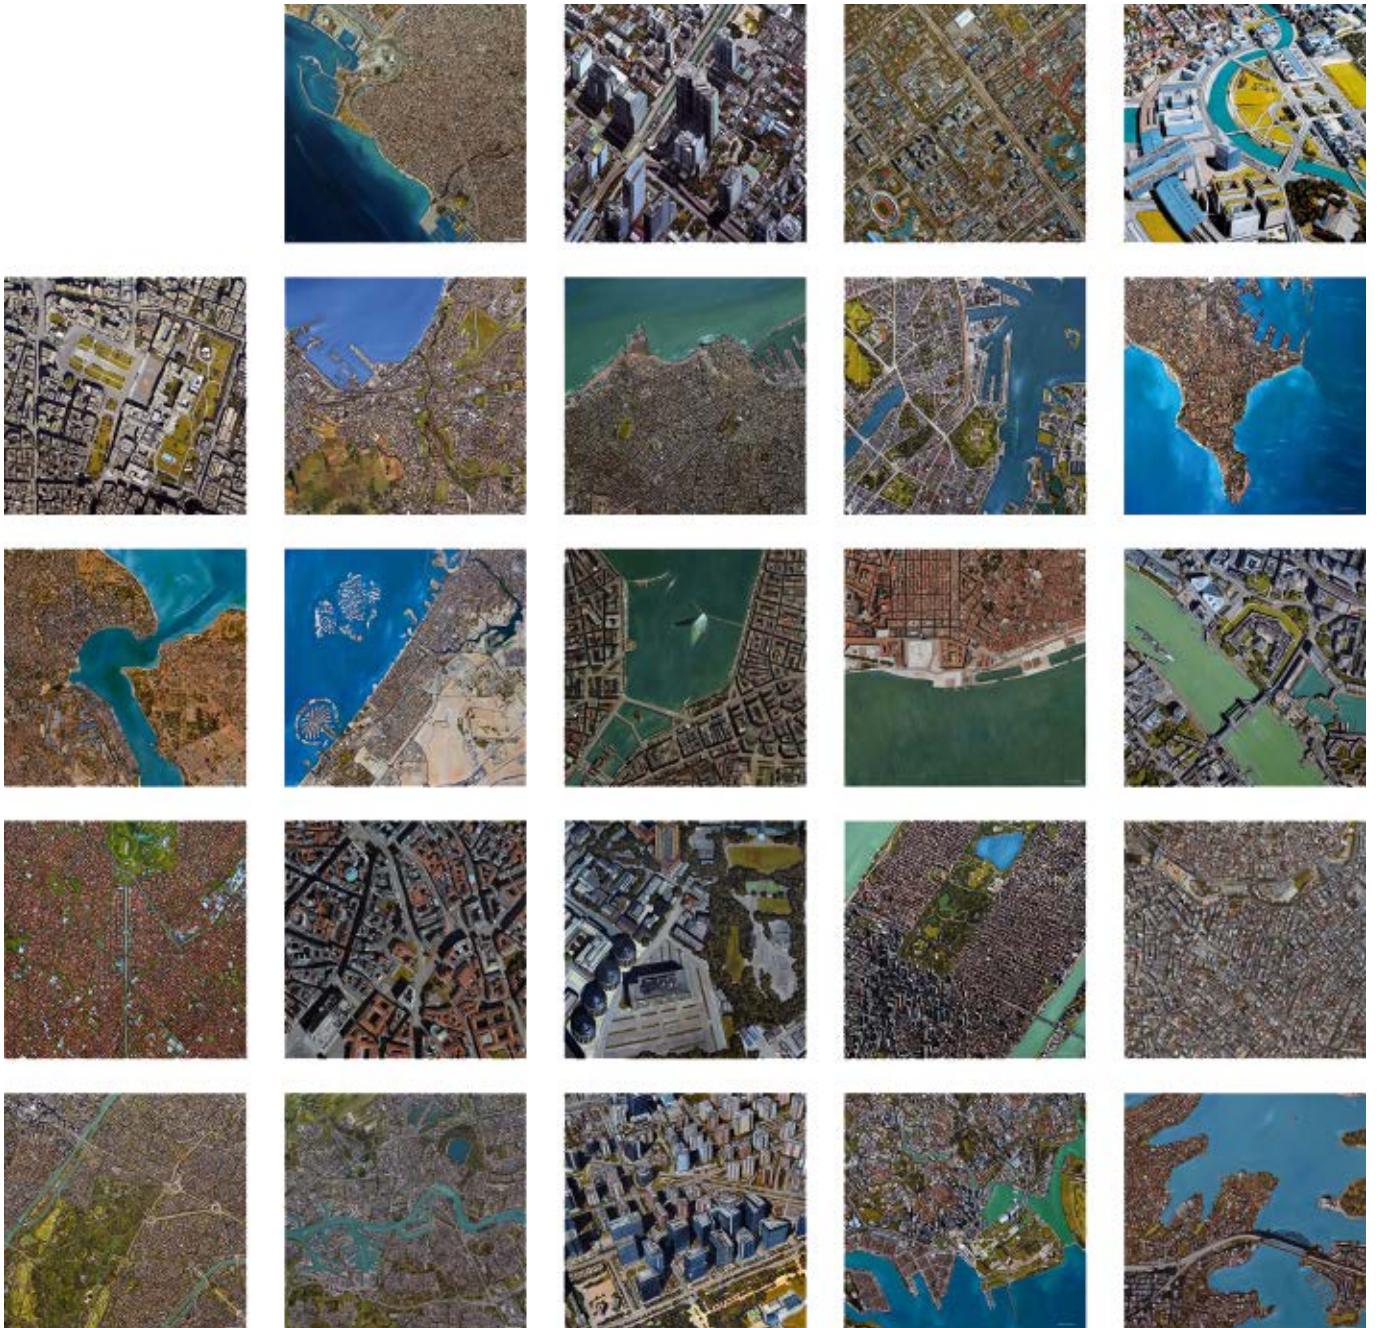

How can all these parties, with different interests and agendas, interact in a positive way? The growing necessity of working together, creating value every day while taking into account the public interest shows that, more than ever, we all need to make more effort to better understand and renew our social contract.

Present today in 300 cities all over the world, Mazars believes in creating shared value, or in the interdependency between businesses and the communities to which they are connected. Cities are where we build our entrepreneurial adventure, where we recruit and train talent, where we connect with our stakeholders, and where we create value for our clients.
