Statutory benefits

- Mandatory Provident Fund: Both employer and employee contribute 5% of the employee's relevant income. Maximum contribution level at HKD 1,500. Employer and employee may choose to make additional voluntary contributions.
- Employees' Compensation Insurance: Insurance for work-related injuries. No employer shall employ any employee unless an insurance policy is in force to cover liabilities under the law.

Statutory leave entitlements

- Rest days: 1 day in a 7-day period.
- Annual leave: 7-14 days/year, based on years of service.
- Sick leave and sickness allowance: 2 days/month during first 12 months and 4 days thereafter, up to 120 days.
- Maternity leave: 14 weeks
- Paternity leave: 5 days

Statutory and public holidays

- Statutory holidays are holidays mandated under the Employment Ordinance. Employers are legally required to grant these days off to employees. A statutory holiday is paid if an employee has been employed under a continuous contract for not less than three months immediately preceding the statutory holiday.
- Statutory holidays include New Year's Day, Lunar New Year, National Day and Christmas Day, among others (a total of 15 days in 2026).
- General holidays are a broader category of public holidays declared by the government. They include statutory holidays as well as other holidays. While some general holidays are statutory in nature, others may be observed but are not legally required to be granted as days off
- General holidays include the Easter holidays (2 days). The number of statutory holidays will be increased progressively to 17 days by 2030 to align with the number of general holidays.
- Regardless of whether an employee is entitled to holiday pay, an employer must grant a statutory holiday or arrange an alternative holiday. Payment in lieu of a statutory holiday is not permitted.

Social security and retirement

Mandatory Provident Fund (MPF)

- Mandatory for all employees aged 18-65. Exemption may apply if certain circumstances are met.
- MPF Contributions:

Relevant income (HKD)	Employer's Mandatory Contribution	Employee's Mandatory Contribution
Up to 7,100	Relevant income x 5%	No contribution is required
7,100 – 30,000	Relevant income x 5%	Relevant income x 5%
From 30,000	1,500	1,500

- New employees enjoy a contribution holiday, i.e., they are not required to make contributions for the first 30 days of employment, nor do they have to make contributions for:
 - any incomplete wage period that immediately follows the 30-day contribution holiday; or
 - the calendar month in which the 30th day of employment falls.
- Additional voluntary contributions are possible.
- For employees paid monthly, the contribution day is the 10th day of the following month.
- For new employees, employers must make their first contributions on or before the next contribution day after the calendar month in which the 60th day of employment falls.
- The eMPF Platform launched on 26 June 2024 and is being rolled out in phases. Full mandatory onboarding and fee-reduction requirements for all MPF schemes will be completed through 2026, fundamentally modernising Hong Kong's MPF administration.

Employees' Compensation Insurance

- Employers must have employees' compensation insurance for employees.
- Governed by the Employees' Compensation Ordinance.
- Employer is liable to compensate employees for workplace injuries, accidents, or occupational diseases.
- Compensation depends on the nature of injury and salary.

Tax

Personal Income Tax (PIT)

- Net chargeable income (assessable income after deductions and allowances) is charged at progressive rates. If the net chargeable income based on progressive rates exceeds the tax charged at the standard rate on net income (assessable income after deductions but before allowances), the standard rate on net income should be used.
- Progressive rates: from 2% to 17%, depending on net chargeable income.
- Standard rate: 15-16%, depending on net chargeable income.

Withholding tax (WHT)

Employers do not have any withholding obligations in Hong Kong. Employees should file and settle their tax liabilities with the Inland Revenue Department (IRD) directly.

Employer obligations

Employment condition	Form to complete	Period for notification
Commencement of employment	IR56E	Within 3 months
Employment still valid as at 31 March	BIR56A & IR56B	Within 1 month
Cessation of employment	IR56F	Not later than 1 month before cessation
Departure from, Hong Kong	IR56G	Not later than 1 month before departure and withhold money for tax clearance

Termination

Notice period

- Subject to contract terms, but shall not be less than the statutory minimum as prescribed under the Employment Ordinance:
 - During probation (after the first month): not less than 7 days.
 - After probation / no probation: not less than 1 month.

Severance payment and long service payment

- Severance payment:
 - Required as per the Employment Ordinance for employees with continuous service of 2 years or more when laid off or made redundant.
- Long service payment:
 - Required as per the Employment Ordinance for employees with continuous service of 5 years or more if the employee is dismissed (except for serious misconduct), resigns on grounds of ill health, dies, or reaches the age of 65.
- An employee will not be simultaneously entitled to both Severance Payment and Long Service Payment.
- For an employee starting after 1 May 2025:
 - Severance payment and long service payment are calculated at 2/3 of the last full month's wages immediately preceding the termination of employment (capped at HKD 22,500) for each year of service, up to a maximum amount of HKD 390,000.
- For an employee who started before 1 May 2025:
 - Severance payment and long service payment are divided into two portions (pre-transition and post-transition).
 - Pre-transition portion: calculated at 2/3 of the last full month's wages immediately preceding 1 May 2025 (capped at HKD 22,500) for each year of service before 1 May 2025.
 - Post-transition portion: calculated at 2/3 of the last full month's wages immediately preceding the termination of employment (capped at HKD 22,500) for each year of service after 1 May 2025.
 - The maximum amount of total pre-transaction and post-transaction portions of severance pay is HKD 390,000.

Offboarding requirements

- Includes final settlement of dues and MPF transfer/withdrawal.
- Notify the IRD of cessation of employment or departure from Hong Kong (withheld last payment for tax clearance).
- Final payment (other than severance pay) should be released to employee no later than 7 days after the termination date (except in the event of departure from Hong Kong).
- The employer shall make severance payment to the employee no later than 2 months after the receipt of notice from the employee claiming severance pay.

Country and territory backgrounds and workplace norms

General information

- Currency: Indian Rupee (INR).
- Tax year: 1 April – 31 March.
- Working hours:
 - Standard: 48 hours/week, 8 hours/day (OSH Code 2020). With worker consent, daily hours may increase up to 12 hours under the following arrangements:
 - 4-day week: 12 hours/day (3 weeks rest day)
 - 5-day week: 9.5 hours/day
 - 6-day week: 8 hours/day
 - Daily: standard of 8 hours, with flexibility up to a maximum of 12 hours with worker consent.
 - Women may work night shifts (7 pm–6 am) with written consent and mandatory safety and transport facilities.
- Payroll cycle: Monthly

Governing laws

- Labour Law:
 - Four new Labour Codes, effective 21 November 2025, replacing 29 legacy statutes: Code on Wages 2019; Code on Social Security 2020; Industrial Relations Code 2020; Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code 2020.
 - During the transition, existing labour Acts and their rules continue to apply until superseded by notified Central and State rules under the new Codes.

- Data privacy is governed by the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 (DPDP Act), supplemented by the Information Technology Act, 2000. Employers must ensure lawful, purpose-limited processing of employee personal data. Rules under the DPDP Act are expected to be notified and compliance programmes should be updated accordingly.

Mandatory registrations

Under the new labour codes, effective 21 November 2025, a single unified electronic registration framework replaces the previous multiple registrations. Central and State rules are still being notified. During the transition period, both legacy and new obligations continue to apply.

Employers must register with:

1. Unified Electronic Registration (Code on Social Security 2020): All establishments must register electronically with the central government for social security contributions, regardless of workforce size. This single registration replaces the separate EPF, ESI and other registrations, while existing registrations remain valid.
2. Employees' State Insurance Corporation (ESIC): Coverage applies pan-India.
3. Income Tax Department: For tax deduction and compliance (TAN and PAN).
4. State Labour Welfare Boards: State-specific welfare contributions continue during transition until superseded by rules under the new Codes.

Registration	General requirement, with some variation by State
Employees' Provident Fund (EPF)	Mandatory for establishments with 20 or more employees under legacy threshold, which continues during transition. Under the unified registration framework, all establishments must register electronically regardless of size.
Employees' State Insurance (ESI)	Mandatory for establishments with 10 or more employees and for any establishments with employees engaged in hazardous processes. Voluntary for establishments with fewer than 10 employees.
Professional Tax (PT)	Central government does not impose this; managed by states where applicable.
Labour Welfare Fund (LWF)	Aggregators are additionally required to register and contribute 1–2% of annual turnover to the gig and platform worker social security fund.

Work visa requirements

Types of work visas

Employment Visa (E-Visa)

- For foreign nationals working in India.
- Requires a minimum annual salary of INR 1.625 million, including perquisites reckoned for computing taxable income, as quantified in the employment contract (exceptions for specific roles).

Ease of obtaining

Documentation and compliance are strict; varies by region depending on local authorities.

Employment contracts and policies

Contracts

- All employers must issue written appointment letters to every worker under the Code on Wages 2019 and OSHWC Code 2020.
- Must comply with central laws (e.g., Industrial Disputes Act) and state laws (e.g., Shops and Establishments Acts) and state rules.

Employee handbook

Useful for outlining company policies, benefits and compliance with regional laws.

Employment commencement

Probation period

Typically 3 to 6 months; widely practiced but not mandated.

Payslip requirements

Itemised payslips must include regional statutory contributions like professional tax or LWF (if applicable).

Compensation, wages and allowances

Minimum wage

- Governed by the Code on Wages, 2019 (effective 21 November 2025), consolidating four legacy statutes – the Minimum Wages Act 1948, Payment of Wages Act 1936, Equal Remuneration Act 1976 and Payment of Bonus Act 1965 – into a single framework. Coverage is universal, extending minimum wage entitlement to all workers in all sectors.
- National floor wage is INR 178/day. States must set minimum wages above this floor, differentiated by skill level and location, with Variable Dearness Allowance (VDA) revised periodically based on the Consumer Price Index (effective 1 April 2025). Equal pay for equal work applies to all genders, including transgender persons.

Work from home arrangement

- The appointment letter and employment contracts, shall specify the mode of work (office-based, remote or hybrid).
- Employers must implement appropriate IT security measures and must not interfere with an employee's personal household matters while working remotely.

Overtime

- Governed by the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020 (effective 21 November 2025), replacing the Factories Act 1948 for most establishments.
- Overtime is consent-based and paid at 2x the normal wage rate. The previous quarterly cap of 75 hours has been replaced by limits set by appropriate government.
- Workers cannot be compelled to work beyond standard hours.

Common allowances and taxability

- Taxable: Housing Rent Allowance (HRA), Special Allowance.
- Non-taxable: Leave Travel Allowance, Professional Development

Taxability would depend on documents submitted and the tax regime chosen by the employees.

Payment frequency

Monthly, within 7 days of the end of the pay period.

Employee benefits and leave

Statutory benefits

- Provident Fund (PF): Employee contribution of 12%, matched by the employer. The new uniform wage definition requires basic wages to be at least 50% of total remuneration, increasing the PF contribution base for many salary structures.
- ESI: Employee contribution of 0.75% and employer contribution of 3.25%, applicable to employees earning up to INR 21,000 per month. Coverage applies pan-India, including commuting accidents.
- Gratuity: Payable after 5 years of continuous service. Fixed-term employees are now eligible after 1 year of service.

Statutory leave entitlements

- Earned Leave (EL): 1 day for every 20 days worked (approximately 15 days per year for most workers). For young workers (under 15) may accrue up to 30 days. Eligibility generally applies after 180 working days per year. Leave encashment is based on the applicable wage definition, which may increase employer liability. State-level rules may provide higher entitlements.
- Casual Leave (CL): 7-10 days/year, depending on the state.
- Sick Leave (SL): 5-12 days/year, depending on the state.
- Maternity leave: 26 weeks
- Paternity leave: 15 days

These provisions apply mainly to government and public sector employees. In the private sector, leave entitlements are more flexible with a total annual leave allowance of approximately 24 to 30 days commonly provided.

Public holidays

- Employees are entitled to a minimum of 3 national holidays: Republic Day (26 Jan), Independence Day (15 Aug) and Gandhi Jayanti (2 Oct).
- In addition, there are typically some optional (state/local) holidays recognised by each state government.
- Employers compile an annual holiday list each year to cover both national and regional or local holidays and share it with staff.

Social security and retirement

Provident Fund (PF)

- Employee: 12% of basic wages. Basic wages must be at least 50% of total remuneration, increasing the effective PF contribution base.
- Employer: 12% (8.33% to Pension Fund, 3.67% to EPF).
- Mandatory for salaries up to INR 15,000/month; voluntary above this threshold.

Employees' State Insurance (ESI)

- Covers medical, sickness, maternity, disability and commuting accidents. Coverage applies pan-India.
- Employee: 0.75% of basic wages
- Employer: 3.25% of wages for employees earning up to INR 21,000/month.
- A free annual health check-up is mandatory for workers aged 40 and above.
- Contribution deadlines: by the 15th day of the following month.

Regional variations

ESIC coverage applies pan-India and is no longer conditional on regional dispensary availability. Coverage is mandatory for hazardous-process establishments, regardless of headcount. Benefits include coverage for commuting accidents and a mandatory free annual health check-up for workers aged 40 and above.

Retirement scheme

Gratuity:

- Payable after 5 years of continuous service. Fixed-term employees are eligible after 1 year of service.
- Calculate as 15 days' wages for each completed year of service.
- The uniform wage definition, which requires basic wages to form at least 50% of total remuneration, may increase the gratuity base for many employers.

National Pension Scheme (NPS):

- Optional, government-backed retirement savings scheme available to private sector employees.
- Allows additional retirement savings with tax benefits.

Work injury compensation

- Employers must maintain work injury compensation insurance for eligible employees.
- Employers are liable to compensate employees for work-related injuries, accidents, or occupational diseases.
- Compensation is determined by the nature of injury and the employee's salary.
- Enforcement and administration may vary by state.

Tax

Personal Income Tax (PIT)

- Progressive rates:
 - Old tax regime – FY 2025-26

Taxable income (Annual)	Tax rate
Up to INR 2.5 lakh	0%
INR 2.5–5 lakh	5%

 - For old regime, tax rebate of up to INR 12,500 for total income not exceeding INR 500,000 (not applicable for non-resident Indians). No tax is payable up to this income level.

- Standard deduction: INR 75,000 under the new regime and INR 50,000 under the old regime.
- Regional allowances, such as house rent allowance (HRA), may be tax-exempt where applicable. These exemptions are available only under the old regime.

Withholding tax (WHT)

Withholding tax varies for non-residents, with rates ranging from 10%-40%.

Employer obligations

Tax deducted at source (TDS) deductions must be remitted to the government by the 7th of the following month.

Termination

Notice period

- Commonly 1-3 months, subject to contract terms.
- Governed by the Industrial Relations Code, 2020 (effective 21 November 2025).
- Employers must pay full and final settlement within 2 working days of separation.

Severance pay

- Governed by the Industrial Relations Code, 2020.
- Prior government approval for layoffs, retrenchment or closure is required only for establishments with 300 or more workers.
- Employers must contribute 15 days' wages per retrenched worker to a re-skilling fund.
- Calculation: 15 days' wages for every year of service.

Offboarding requirements

Offboarding requirements include final settlement of dues, Form 16 issuance and PF transfer/withdrawal.

Governing laws

Japan has several labour laws that govern employment matters and provide protections for workers. Some of the key labour laws in Japan include:

- Labour Standards Act (LSA): This is the main piece of labour legislation in Japan. It sets out basic working conditions, such as working hours, wages, overtime and paid leave. It also governs employment contracts, termination and other labour conditions to protect workers' rights.
- Employment Security Act: This law aims to provide support for workers' livelihoods in cases of unemployment or work suspension and to facilitate their return to employment and society.
- Industrial Safety and Health Act: This law requires employers to maintain a safe and healthy working environment. It covers safety measures, worker health and preventing workplace accidents and diseases.
- Health Insurance Act: This law ensures that employees and their families have the right to receive medical services and benefits when they are affected by illness, injury, or childbirth.
- Pension Insurance Act: This is a statutory public pension scheme mainly applicable to company employees and public-sector workers, designed to provide a fundamental source of income security in old age.
- Workers' Accident Compensation Insurance Act (WACI): This law provides workers with compensation for work-related accidents, injuries, or illnesses. Employers are required to enrol employees in the insurance scheme and workers can receive medical care and financial support if injured on the job.
- Equal Employment Opportunity Act: This act aims to eliminate discrimination in employment based on gender. It mandates equal treatment for men and women in hiring, job assignments, promotions and other aspects of employment.
- Minimum Wage Act: This law sets the minimum wage that employers must pay employees. Minimum wages are classified into two categories: the regional minimum wage and the specific minimum wage.
- The Labour Union Act: This law grants workers the right to form or join labour unions and collectively bargain for better working conditions. It also protects workers against unfair practices related to union activities.
- Maternity and Childcare Leave Laws: These laws grant employees rights to maternity, paternity and childcare leave. They also provide for financial support during leave periods and job protection.
- Data privacy is governed by the Act on the Protection of Personal Information (APPI). Employers must ensure secure handling of employee information, adhering to local data protection rules.

Mandatory registrations

Employers must register with:

- 1. Social Insurance Office: For health and pension insurance.
- 2. Tax Office: For tax deduction and compliance.
- 3. Labour Insurance Office: For workers' accident insurance and compliance with labour laws.

Registration	General requirement	State-specific variations
Health and Pension Insurance	Mandatory for all full-time employees (For part-time employees, it depends on contracted working hours and company size.)	Health insurance rates vary by prefecture and by insurance association. Pension insurance rates are the same nationwide.
Workers' Accident Insurance	Mandatory for all employees.
Employment Insurance	Employees working 20 hours or more per week, with employment expected to last at least 31 days.
Withholding tax	Central government imposes.	Uniform across all regions.

Work visa requirements

Types of work visas

The main types of work visas for foreign nationals working in Japan are as follows:

- Engineer/Specialist in Humanities/International Services
- Intra-Company Transferee
- Highly Skilled Professional
- Business Manager

They generally require a valid employment contract and relevant qualifications.

Ease of obtaining

- Documentation and compliance are strict.
- Processing time has been increasing

Employment contracts and policies

Contracts

- Written contracts are highly recommended and often required.
- Must comply with the Labour Standards Act.

Employee handbook

- Useful for outlining company policies, benefits and compliance with regional laws.
- Required to be submitted to the Labor Standards Office if the company employs 10 or more regular employees at a single place of business, including an opinion from the Employee Representative.

Employment commencement

Probation period

Typically 1 to 6 months; widely practiced but not mandated.

Payslip requirements

Itemised payslips must include details of earnings, tax deductions and social insurance contributions.

Compensation, wages and allowances

Minimum wage

- Set by local governments; varies by region.
- Example: As of 2025, the minimum wage in Tokyo is higher than in many other regions.

Overtime

- Governed by the Labour Standards Act.
- Generally, 1.25x hourly wage for overtime, 0.25x for late-night work and 1.35x for holidays.

Common allowances and taxability

- Taxable: Housing allowance, meal allowance.
- Non-taxable: Commuting allowance (up to certain limits).

Payment frequency

Monthly

Employee benefits and leave

Statutory benefits

- Social insurance: Covers health and pension.
- Employment insurance: Provides benefits for unemployment and job training.

Statutory leave entitlements

- Annual leave: 10–20 days per year, based on years of service.
- Sick leave: Not mandated but often provided by employers.
- Maternity leave: Employees are entitled to 6 weeks of leave before the anticipated due date and 8 weeks after the birth of the child, totaling 14 weeks of paid leave. During this period, maternity leave allowance is paid by the health insurance.
- Paternity leave: Employees are eligible to take up to 4 weeks within the period of 8 weeks after the child is born. After the paternity leave period ends, they are entitled to childcare leave until the child reaches the age of one and this can be taken in one continuous block or multiple periods of leave.

The requirements to take paternity leave:

- Employees who are not on maternity leave (excluding daily workers).
 - Employees must provide their employers with a copy of the birth certificate.
- Childcare allowance: Both female and male employees are eligible for a childcare leave allowance during childcare leave. Each employee will receive 67% of their normal base salary for the first 6 months and 50% for the rest of the leave (subject to a maximum limit). The compensation is covered by employment insurance and the employee will not be taxed as it is not classified as taxable income.

Public holidays

- Paid leave and compensation for working on public holidays depend on company-specific regulations or individual employment contracts.
- In addition to national holidays, many Japanese companies voluntarily close during traditional holiday periods—such as the Year-End and New Year Holidays (typically December 29 to January 3) and Obon holidays (typically around mid-August, with dates varying each year). Although these are not officially recognised as national holidays, they are granted at the company's discretion and communicated annually via the work calendar.

Social security and retirement

Work visa requirements

Foreign nationals seeking employment in Thailand typically obtain a Non-Immigrant B Visa from a Thai Embassy or Consulate in their home country prior to arrival.

Ease of obtaining

Documentation and compliance are strict and vary by region depending on local authorities.

Employment contracts and policies

Contracts

- Written contracts are highly recommended and often required. Contracts drafted in either Thai or English are acceptable.
- Must comply with the Labour Protection Act and local regulations.

Employee handbook

Employers with ten or more employees are required to prepare a written employee handbook outlining the company's work rules and regulations.

Employment commencement

Probation period

Typically, 1 to 4 months; widely practiced but not mandated.

Payslip requirements

Itemised payslips must include details of earnings, tax deductions and social insurance contributions.

Compensation, wages and allowances

Minimum wage

Set by the Ministry of Labour, Thailand's minimum daily wage varies by province and business sector. As of 1 July 2025, it ranges from THB 337 to THB 400 per day, depending on location. A higher minimum wage applies to skilled labour roles.

Overtime

- Governed by the Labour Protection Act.
- Salaried employee (paid monthly): 1.5x hourly wage for overtime on working days, 1x hourly wage for working on weekends and holidays and 3x hourly wage for overtime on weekends and holidays.
- Daily employee: 1.5x hourly wage for overtime on working days, 2x hourly wage for working on weekends and holidays and 3x hourly wage for overtime on weekends and holidays.

Common allowances and taxability

- Taxable: Benefits provided by an employer, both in cash and in kind, are treated as assessable income of the employee (e.g., rent-free housing or the amount of tax paid by the employer on behalf of the employee).
- Non-taxable: Exemptions are listed per the Revenue Code, Ministerial Regulation and Departmental Instructions (e.g., travel allowances up to certain limits, medical expenses and relocation expenses).

Payment frequency

At least once a month.

Employee benefits and leave

Statutory benefits

- Social Security Fund: Both employers and employees contribute 5% of the monthly salary. From 1 January 2026, the wage ceiling will increase to THB 17,500, resulting in a maximum monthly contribution of THB 875 for 2026–2028. The seven benefits covered under social security contributions are medical expenses, maternity, invalidity, death, child allowance, pension and unemployment.
- Employee Welfare Fund: Employees and employers contribute 0.25% of wages to the fund, increasing to 0.5% from 1 October 2031.
- Provident Fund: Optional, with employer and employee contributions.

Statutory leave entitlements

- Annual leave: A minimum of 6 working days for employees who have worked for 1 full year, with pay.
- Sick leave: Employees may take leave as needed, but employers are only obliged to compensate up to 30 days per year.
- Sterilisation leave: For the length of time set out in a medical certificate, with pay throughout the leave period.
- Business leave: A minimum of 3 days per year, with full pay for up to 3 working days.
- Maternity leave: Up to 120 days per pregnancy, with full pay for up to 60 working days (female employees only).
- Post-partum childcare leave: Eligible female employees may take up to 15 days, with 50% wage payment, subject to a medical certificate confirming a child's severe illness or disability.
- Paternity leave: Up to 15 days of fully paid leave, available before or within 90 days after childbirth.
- Military leave: Upon call-up from the government, with pay for no more than 60 days per year.
- Leave for training or development of knowledge and skills: Up to 30 days or 3 times per annum, at the company's discretion (except for employers of youths).

Public holidays

- Traditional public holidays: Minimum of 13 days per year.
- Regional holidays: Vary by local customs.

Social security and retirement

Social Security

- Employee: Contributes 5% of salary.
- Employer: Contributes 5% of salary.
- Mandatory for all employees.

Retirement scheme

- Provident Fund: Common retirement savings scheme.
- Social Security Fund: Employees covered by the Social Security Fund are eligible for a pension upon retirement. The monthly pension starts at 20% of the average salary earned over the last 60 months before retirement. However, for calculation purposes, the average salary is capped at THB 17,500 per month, even if the employee earned more.
- Voluntary additional contributions possible.

Work injury compensation

- Employers must submit the report and pay the annual contribution to the Workmen's Compensation Fund.
- Governed by the Workmen's Compensation Act.
- The Workmen's Compensation Fund compensates employees for work-related injuries, illnesses, disabilities, deaths, disappearances, loss of organs, or loss of bodily function.
- Compensation depends on the cause of the injury or illness regardless of the time and place.

Country and territory backgrounds and workplace norms

General information

- Currency: Vietnamese Dong (VND)
- Tax year: This is usually the calendar year, from 1 January – 31 December. In some cases, individuals need to use a tax year other than the calendar year.
- Working hours:
 - Standard: 40-48 hours/week
 - Daily: 8 hours
- Payroll cycle: Usually monthly

Governing laws

- The Labour Code stipulates labour standards, rights and obligations of employees and employers, as well as state management of labour. This Code applies to Vietnamese employees, foreign employees working in Vietnam and related agencies, organisations and individuals.
- Several specialised laws regulate specific aspects of the employment relationship, such as the Law on Social Insurance 2024 (social insurance schemes), Law on Health Insurance 2008 (and its amendment), the Law on Employment 2025 (unemployment insurance and employment policies), the Law on Occupational Safety and Hygiene 2015 (workplace safety and occupational health), the Law on Trade Union 2024 (employee representation and trade union activities) and the Law on Personal Data Protection 2025 (protection and processing of employees' personal data).
- Each of these laws is further supplemented by a system of implementing decrees and circulars that provide detailed guidance for their application.

Mandatory registrations

Employers must register with:

1. Tax Department Office: For tax deduction and compliance.
2. Vietnam Social Security (VSS) Office: For social security contributions.
3. Ministry of Home Affairs/Department of Home Affairs: For work permit-related documents and other internal labor documents (internal labour rules, etc.)
4. Immigration Department/Office: For visas for foreign employees.

Registration	Requirement
Social Insurance	Mandatory for all employees (except expats with specific requirements).
Health Insurance
Unemployment Insurance	Mandatory for all local employees only.

Work visa requirements

Requirements from labour perspective

In general, a foreign employee must obtain a Work Permit (“WP”) or an equivalent document, such as a Certificate of Work Permit Exemption (“CoWPE”), to legally work in Vietnam.

The validity of a WP or a CoWPE must not exceed 2 years. It may be extended once, for a maximum additional period of 2 years.

In certain cases, a WP or CoWPE is not required. These include, for example:

- foreign nationals who are married to Vietnamese citizen and reside in Vietnam;
- foreign nationals who are managers, executive directors, experts, or technical workers entering Vietnam to work for a total period of less than 90 days within a calendar year.

In such cases, the employers is only required to submit a report to the competent labour authority confirming the exempting from the obligation of obtaining a WP or CoWPE.

Requirements from immigration perspective

To legally reside in Vietnam during the working period, a foreign employee must obtain the appropriate document, depending on the validity of their passport and their WP or exemption status. This will be either s:

- A visa, valid for up to 1 year; or
- A temporary residence card, valid from 1 to 10 years.

Employment contracts and policies

Contracts

Employment contracts may be concluded in writing or in the form of an electronic data message. All contracts must comply with the Labour Code and local regulations.

Collective labour agreement

A collective labour agreement sets out mutually agreed terms and conditions of employment at a collective level between the employer and employees’ representatives.

Internal labour rules:

Internal labour rules establish the employer’s rules on workplace discipline, order and compliance applicable to all employees.

Other employment policies

Other employment policies may be adopted at the employer’s discretion, subject to operational needs. These may include, for example, training policies and bonus policies.

Employment commencement

Probation period

Typically, around 1 to 2 months. For managerial roles, this may extend to around 6 months; widely practiced but not mandated.

Payslip requirements

Itemised payslips must include details of salary, overtime pay, nightshift pay and deductions (if any).

Compensation, wages and allowances

Minimum wage by region

- Set by the government, varies by region;
- Example: As of 2026, the minimum wage in Region I (the highest level of minimum wage) is VND 5,310,000.

Overtime

- Governed by the Labour Code.
- Generally, 1.5x hourly wage for overtime on weekdays, 2x for weekends and 3x for public holidays.

Common allowances and taxability

- Taxable: Responsibility allowance, travelling allowance, housing allowance, diligence allowance.
- Non-taxable: meal allowance, phone allowance and payments related to night shift work, overtime and unused statutory leave, provided these comply with applicable regulations.

Payment frequency

Monthly

Employee benefits and leave

Statutory leave entitlements

- Annual leave: A minimum of 12 days/year, subject to contract terms, increasing by 1 day for every 5 years of service.
- Sick leave: 75% of salary with a medical certificate and cover by Social Security.
- Maternity leave: Standard duration is 6 months for each child. From 1 July 2026, in the case of the birth of a second child, the entitlement is extended to 7 months. Maternity leave is typically covered by the Social Insurance Fund, subject to statutory eligibility.
- Paternity leave: From 5 to 14 working days, depending on the circumstances of childbirth. Paid leave may be covered by the social insurance fund subject to applicable conditions.
- Personal paid leave: Employees are entitled to fully paid leave for certain personal events, including 3 days for their own marriage, 1 day for a child's marriage and 3 days in case of the death of a close family member

Public holidays

- As of 2026, employees are entitled to 11 statutory public holidays per year (New Year's Day, Lunar New Year, Hung Kings' Commemoration Day, Reunification Day, International Workers' Day, National Day)
- Some official holidays, such as Tet and the Hung Kings Commemoration Day (as they follow the lunar calendar) and National Day, may vary slightly each year. The exact dates are officially confirmed annually by the Prime Minister's proclamation.

Social security and retirement

Social insurance

- Mandatory Social Insurance: Employer contributes 17.5%, employee contributes 8% of the monthly salary*.
- Health Insurance: Employer contributes 3%, employee contributes 1.5% of the monthly salary*.
- Unemployment Insurance: Both employer and employee contribute 1% of the monthly salary.

* Some allowances are excluded and the salary is capped currently at VND 46.8 million.

 Some allowances are excluded and the salary cap varies by region, with the highest capped amount being VND 106.2 million.

Retirement scheme

- Social Insurance: Main retirement savings scheme.
- Voluntary additional contributions possible.

Work injury compensation

- Employers must contribute to the work injury compensation insurance fund as part of the Social Insurance scheme for eligible employees.
- Governed by the Law on Occupational Safety and Health.
- Employer might fully or partially be liable to compensate employees for workplace injuries, accidents, or occupational diseases in certain cases, depending on the circumstances and the employer and employee's level of fault (if any).
- Granted benefit from Social Insurance Office and compensation from employer depends on the nature of injury and salary.

Tax

Personal Income Tax (PIT)

Progressive rates for residents:

Taxable income (Annual)	Tax rate
Up to VND 120 million	5%
VND 120 million – 360 million	10%
VND 360 million – 720 million	20%
VND 720 million – 1,200 million	30%
Above VND 1,200 million	35%

For non-residents, the tax rate is 20%.

Employer obligations

- PIT deductions must be remitted to the tax authority on a monthly or quarterly basis.
- Prepare and submit the PIT finalisation at the year-end for employees who meet the conditions.

Termination

Case of termination

An employment contract may only be terminated in the circumstances prescribed by law. In respect of unilateral termination, an employee may terminate the contract without providing a reason. An employer, however, may only unilaterally terminate, dismiss, or lay off an employee on specific statutory grounds and in compliance with the procedures prescribed by law.

Notice period

Commonly, 30 days or 45 days, subject to contract terms. In certain circumstances, the employee is not required to provide prior notice, for example, in cases of sexual harassment in the workplace.

Final payment

Typically, the final payment includes salary, allowances and bonuses up to the termination date, payment in lieu of unused leave and any severance allowance or job-loss allowance required by law, depending on the reasons for termination and employees' eligibility.

Offboarding requirements

Offboarding requirements include final settlement of dues, issuance of separation certificates and social insurance transfer/withdrawal.
